Logan Park small area plan available for review

The Logan Park Neighborhood Small Area Plan was presented last month at the Solar Arts Building. Over forty attendees enjoyed a delicious spread catered by the Chowgirls in the shadow of a historic and handsome bar previously owned by Johnny Cash. Each area of the summary was laid out for the public to peruse while the core committee welcomed local business owners, friends, and neighbors. Tables were set up with crayons and coloring pages of Logan Park and iconic streets for a fun, relaxing activity. The different areas of Logan Park could be viewed out the windows, from the sturdy old houses and brick churches, to the railroad tracks and renovated warehouses. Residents were encouraged to study the plan and give feedback. The Cunningham Group opened with remarks on the uniqueness of the Logan Park neighborhood in the middle of the arts district and how important it is to preserve the local history as well as create room for growth. They talked about the process used to create the plan that relied heavily on feedback from residents and then gave an overview of each section.
