Recycle Smart Campaign

The Recycle Smart campaign is in partnership with the City of St. Paul and Hennepin County. Each month a different topic is featured to provide information to residents so they can Recycle Smart. Topics covered thus far that do not belong in recycling carts include:

- Plastic bags: Plastic bags and wrap get tangled in the equipment in sorting facilities and workers spend hours each day removing them. Plastic bags and wrap can be recycled if brought back to a retail drop-off location.
- Bags of recycling: Recycling in bags don't get properly sorted at the recycling facility, and recyclers can't tell what's in the bag. Make sure to place your recycling loose in your recycling cart.
- Large plastic items: Large plastic items like laundry baskets, storage bins, lawn furniture, plastic toys, and other large plastic items can't be recycled. There are no good markets for these items, and they are difficult to sort at recycling facilities. Purchase high-quality items, use them for as long as possible, and donate items that are in good shape when you're ready to get rid of them.

Organics Collection

Organics are collected every week. The maximum weight for an organics recycling cart and its contents is 200 pounds. Your organics cart must be at your collection point, at the alley or curb line, by 6 a.m. on your collection day each week.

Customers who opt-in to participate are provided with an organics recycling cart, either small or medium. Properties with two or fewer dwelling units are provided with a small (32-gallon) organics recycling cart. Properties with more than two dwelling units are provided with a medium (64-gallon) organics recycling cart. You may request a larger or an additional organics recycling cart by calling Solid Waste & Recycling at 612-673-2917.

City crews deliver and maintain all carts. If your cart is damaged, call Solid Waste & Recycling at 612-673-2917 to request for your cart to be repaired.

Your collection day is assigned by the Solid Waste & Recycling Division. Routes are created so the Division operates in the most cost-effective way.

For more information email SWRcustomer@minneapolismn.gov or call 612-673-2917.

Pollinators are key to Minnesota's environmental health

Without them, we wouldn't have some of our favorite foods. They are vital to a healthy environment. They're also beautiful and fascinating to watch. They're pollinators, and this week is dedicated to understanding, appreciating and helping them.

Bees, butterflies and hummingbirds are needed to pollinate plants that provide Minnesota food crops such as fruits, vegetables and herbs. Some of these foods are important for wildlife, too. Black bears, for example, eat raspberries that are pollinated by bumble bees. Honeybees and native pollinators contribute millions of dollars to Minnesota's agricultural economy.

Pollinators play a critical role in keeping our environment healthy. They help maintain the health of the many plants that stabilize the soil and prevent erosion. These plants also buffer waterways, store carbon, and provide habitat for other wildlife. Plus, flowering landscapes are beautiful. Without pollinators, our environment would look very different.

Pollinators are so important, not just to flowers but to our whole environment, and there are many simple things Minnesotans can do to help pollinators, said DNR invertebrate ecologist Jessica Petersen.

To help pollinators:

- Plant a variety of flowers, especially those that are native to the area.
- Keep gardens blooming all season long; choose plants that provide pollen and nectar in the spring, summer and fall.
- Provide nesting sites by allowing dead branches and logs to remain, leaving bare earth for ground-nesting insects, or installing bee nesting blocks.
- Reduce pesticide use.
- Become a citizen scientist and help researchers collect data about pollinators and their habitat.
- Tell friends and family about pollinators and inspire them to take action.

A list of pollinator resources is available on the DNR website, www.dnr.state.mn.us.

Broadway Street Taskforce Updates

Hennepin County, in partnership with the City of Minneapolis, is repaving Broadway Street Northeast from Marshall Street (County Road 23) to Stinson Boulevard (County Road 27).

In coordination with the upcoming repaving project, the county and others, including the Broadway Street Taskforce, are exploring possible opportunities to make the roadway safer and more comfortable for all users. Possibilities include a 4-3 conversion, adding zebra crosswalks, and ADA pedestrian ramps. As part of the process, the county and city are reviewing data about vehicle volumes, turning movements, speed and crashes, and reviewing city and county documents to provide a basis for next steps.

The Broadway Street Taskforce is working to ensure the project begins in late summer or early fall 2019.
